TAHITIAN NONI™ Skin Care

Protecting Your Skin Protects Your Health

Protecting your skin is just another way of protecting your health. You take great care to make sure that the inside of your body is healthy-it only make sense to do the same for the outside! Your skin protects your internal organ lets your body breathe, and helps you resist bacteria and infection.

Much of the damage that your skin receives is caused by free radicals-rogu molecules created during the natural skin-cell renewal process. A certain number of free radicals in the body is perfectly normal, but having too many can be highly destructive and can cause irreversible damage to your skin.

When you are exposed to sun and a polluted environment, the number of radicals in your skin greatly increases, leaving your first protection against bacteria and infection weakened. Using a moisturizer daily that contains antioxidant protect your skin from damage due to free radicals.

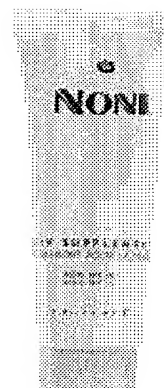

Since the body's skin is almost always normal to dry, the liberal use of moisturizers is important for everyone. A good moisturizer will help your skin replenish itself and recover while protecting it from daily damage. Looking after your skin now will keep your skin healthier and more beautiful throughout your life.

Skin needs protection from the harsh elements of sun, wind, and weather. It also needs constant nourishment to retain its natural, healthy glow. There's no better protector or source of nourishment than the essence of noni juice—noni is an excellent source of antioxidants that can help fight free-radical damage.

TAHITIAN NONI™ Skin Supplement contains noni juice. This light, creamy, non-greasy body lotion replenishes and hydrates your skin to keep you looking great. Unlike many creams that can smother the pores, TAHITIAN NONI™ Skin Supplement allows the skin to breathe and take in nutrients while offering a protective barrier against toxins.

Formulated to naturally balance the pH of the skin, which can become unbalanced when cleansing with soap, TAHITIAN NONI™ Skin Supplement is essential nourishment for every member of the family.

Too Much Sun Can Be Your Worst Enemy

The sun causes most of the aging seen on the skin and the sun's damage is cumulative. Unprotected sun exposure can cause irreversible skin cell damage that begins within the first few minutes.

Dermatologists have been telling patients for years that protection against the sun's ultraviolet (UV) radiation is needed all year-round. Recent studies have found that UVA rays (the rays that cause aging) reach the earth at high levels during every season, including winter. Even walking to the car and then to the office or school without sun protection can cause wrinkles and discoloration to eventually appear on your skin.

Premature aging may account for up to 80 percent of the marks and lines that define an older face. A good sunscreen can reduce this effect. Sunscreen is crucial for sun protection. Every day of your life there is a risk of sun damage—everyone who goes into the sun needs sunscreen.

If you're like most people, you're concerned with the look, feel and health of your skin. Medical professionals recommend SPF 15, not only for the beach or pool-side, but any time your skin is
